

Brave Blueberry

2: The Adventu-
-rous Vacation

The sequel to Brave
Blueberry's Cosmic
Encounter

By: Art McLaughlin

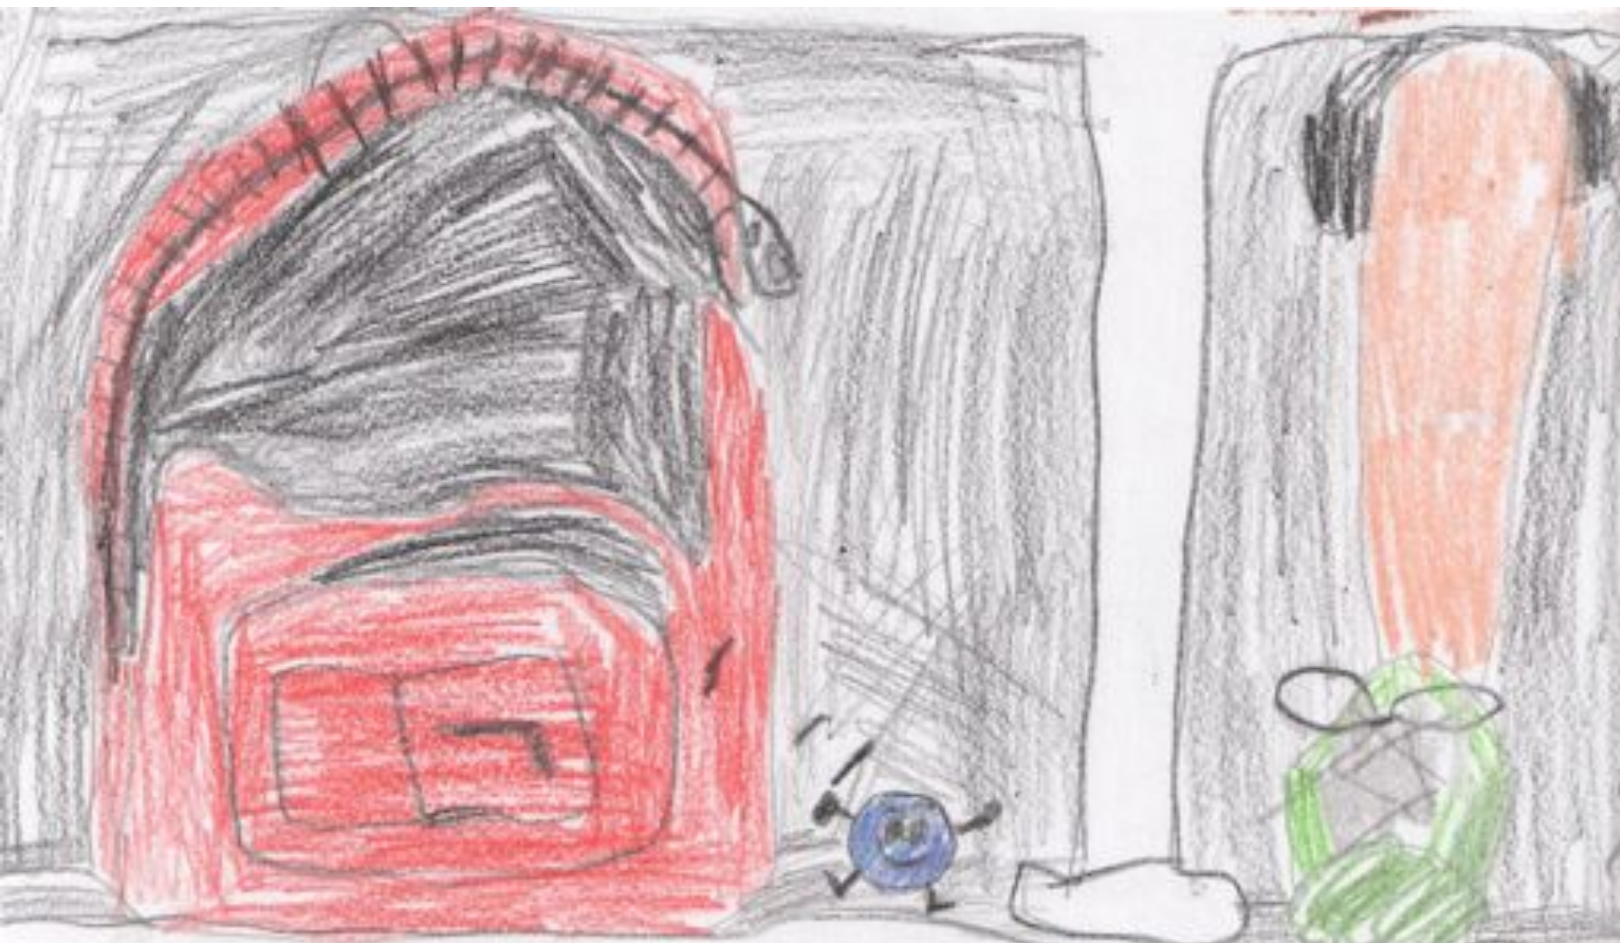

One day Blueberry was packed and shipped in a crate. He arrived at an airport. He was curious! He rolled out of the crate, into the airport, towards the gate, past the security guard, who was listening to his music on his iPod Touch, down the ramp, past the line of passengers checking in. And, no one even noticed him!

Rolling on, down the isle of the plane, he hid under seat #13. Little did he know this plane was bound for tropical Hawaii!!

Right before the Stewardess announced take off, a boy who was traveling with his family, sat in seat #13, right over Blueberry!! The boy placed his backpack under the seat, just missing Blueberry, who was almost squished!

The plane takes off! Blueberry was so scared of take off that he jumped into the pocket of the boys backpack! He zippered himself in and felt safe. "Phew!"

11 hours later, they landed in Maui! The boy grabbed his backpack and walked out of the terminal with his family. Blueberry couldn't see. He was in the dark, quiet pocket.

You see, this family was on vacation. They were staying at a large resort. The boy unzipped his backpack once they got to their hotel room.

“I’m ready to go surf’n!”, said the boy.
Blueberry moved and hid in a large pocket, in what appeared to be a pair of shorts. They were the boys swim trunks!
“Oh no!”, thought Blueberry, “I’m going to hit the surf, like a big Kahuna!”

“Cowabunga dude!!!”, yelled the boy, as he jumped up on his surf board. All Blueberry remembered was being tossed out of the pocket into the surf. He landed at the bottom of a wave and a lucky crab carried him to the shore. “Phew! I made it!” thought Blueberry, “What an adventure!”

It was Blueberry's first big vacation and he was brave indeed! He popped in and out of pockets and bags all week, enjoying the surf and sun. It was an adventurous vacation! He was the BIG KAHUNA!

The End
